

🍯 @childdevprogram

Developmental Milestones of Reading

Age	Physical Skills	Thinking and Social Skills	Interaction with Parents
6-12 months	 reaches for books mouths books sits with support holds head up 	 looks at pictures pats pictures prefers photographs of faces 	 parents hold the child parents follow the baby's cues for "more" and "stop"
12-18 months	 holds a book with help turns several pages at a time sits with no support carries a book 	 no longer mouths books right away points at pictures with one finger may name specific pictures with specific sounds/words 	 child gets upset if parent won't give up control of book child may choose a book to read child may refuse to listen if parent insists
18-36 months	 turns thick pages, one at a time carries books around the house 	 names familiar pictures short attention span asks for the same story to be read again and again Plays at reading: "reads" books to dolls 	 parent asks, "What's happening?" parent confirms the child's answers and elaborates on them parent shows pleasure when child names a picture or reads a familiar word
3 years and older	 holds a book without help turns pages of normal thickness, one at a time 	 names simple actions retells familiar stories plays at reading: moves his finger from left to right, top to bottom plays at writing his name – scribbling 	 parent asks, "What's happening?" parent confirms the child's answers and elaborates on them parent shows pleasure when child names a picture or reads a familiar word

Reference: Internet - www.cps.ca/english/statements/PP/pp02-01.htm. "CPS position statement: Psychosocial Paediatrics: Promoting literacy in the physician's office."